The wheel of history cannot be stopped and with each new revolution it inevitably moves our civilisation forward.

Everything high is constantly flowing into this world and everything low is continuously leaking out.

Of course,
new shapes
may not always seem habitual
to our eye.

*But, let's consider high fashion!
At first, we all seem think it a little strange, after a while it seems not too bad and later – even becomes quite nice.*

And sometimes echoes of this civilization may be seen in some of the unexpected spheres.

Although, the civilization has one particular feature: it is able to change and improve everything external only.

The inner essence of the world always remains unchangeable. It is impossible to improve anything there...

So, the eternal values have been and will always be love,

...kindness,

...the desire to
share everything,

...the wish to give people a holiday and much more.

*Love is not subject to the effects of time.
(If after everything that we have done with love, it is not used anywhere, it will not deteriorate even in a thousand years).*

*The love can be different.
As for the people, it is often connected with choice of their life partner.*

Guys are seeking for their half in different ways. Those, who prefer Cinderellas, park a carriage on a prominent place,

*...select a couple
of horses for it
and await.*

Well, until Cinderella comes to them.

*And those,
who prefer
a romantic Assol...*

*...buy yachts and set scarlet sails on them.
In particular, a white-coloured yacht means the owner looking for a blond Assol,*

...and a black one means a brunette Assol.

Women have their own
approach to this issue:
mainly, they must
to dream about princes
and a carriages,

*...and when a suitable individual comes,
they master the art of looking at him in the right way.*

Lovers
of scarlet sails
should keep an eye
on the horizon,

...and in the event of an appearance – they should not to hesitate.

However, it is not enough to just meet the love in our life. It is much more important to save and preserve it.

And here, we must remember that any our offence,

...any anger and pertinacity,

...is a step aside from the most important, from human inside us. Little by little this destroys our relationship.

That is why it is so important to quickly forgive, to reconcile and to return to love again.

Forgiveness, kindness and love – are our wings in this life. Without them we can walk but cannot fly.

Photo thoughts

The background of the image is a close-up, top-down view of a dark, textured ground, possibly asphalt or wet pavement. It is densely covered with a large number of fallen purple flowers, which appear to be pansies or similar small, five-petaled blossoms. The flowers are in various stages of decay, with some showing vibrant purple and others appearing faded or browned. Interspersed among the flowers are many brown, dried leaves, likely from trees or shrubs, adding to the autumnal or post-bloom feel of the scene. The lighting is somewhat diffused, creating soft shadows and highlighting the textures of the petals and leaves.
