

Igor Bondar

Igor Bondar

What do we know about women?

Book 3

There are more than three billion women in this world. Therefore, it's quite logical that if we, men, study them more thoroughly, then our life on earth will be more comfortable.

Photo by author

www.DolphinsDivingDreams.com

© Igor Bondar., 2021

So, women.

In order to understand them deeper it is better to forget everything that we know about Homo Sapiens for a while.

Woman is a slightly different kind:
Homo Peculiar Sapiens. And it should be studied anew and very carefully.

So, a man should never try to understand what a woman is thinking while she is looking at something.

Even after a million attempts, he still won't succeed.

In comparison with women, our thinking processes vary a lot. So, for men, sometimes the glass can be half full, sometimes half empty. For women, the contents of the glass is simply tasty or not tasty.

Or people's dreams of flying. Men here always think more about wings, but women more often look at the broom.

Women do not like to give in to anyone and in anything. They won't even show their short nose to an elephant...

If a man wants to touch the greatest miracle in the world, he should look at women again. At first, look at how one woman parks
her car,

... and then realize that millions
of them park their cars today!

It is naive to look for constancy in women. It's as if we want the wind to always blow in the same direction and at the same speed.

However, women have their weaknesses that we can and should exploit. For instance, it is well known that the love for sweets appeared with the birth of the first woman.

For some reason, from time to time, women are looking for...

... someone they can feed.

In addition, they often like to teach and educate someone...

...
(sometimes they really get good results).

Also, women are incredibly curious. And it can sometimes lead them to different places...

... with very unusual inhabitants.

Women are the best seekers of various secrets on earth.

But as keepers of secrets, they are the worst.

Well, on the other hand, they are ready to help even in a hopeless situation...

Now, about logic. If a man feels a lack of it when communicating with a woman,

...then it is better for him to leave her alone
for a while and head to the chess club.

It is noticed that any natural fur and feathers usually arouse a keen interest in a woman.

Two women on this earth, under certain circumstances, can share...

... anything.

Except a man!

In general, the path of any woman on this earth definitely begins at some point,

... but, for sure, it never ends...