Good afternoon! This is Sky Birds
News and its
host, Blue Wing.

First, let's start with some politics. In the western seas, the elections for the new Speaker of Parliament have just ended. After a week of nonstop debate, everyone got tired and decided to keep the former Speaker.

*Yesterday, in some coastal areas protests took place.
The main demand of the birds this time - transition to wired Internet.*

*On major events. The great guru Light
Four-Winged has arrived to our capital.*

He's going to conduct his famous courses on meditation here...

... and self-contemplation.

In the food sector. Worm harvest pleased everyone this year,

... the situation is worse with sardines.

This time, our birds have to dive deep to get some food.

Now to science. Our scientists from the southern seas are studying a black piece of iron to improve swimming speed.

*Scientists of the northern seas, on the other hand,
haven't yet
discovered
how to climb the tower to expand their horizons.*

About sport. Pelicans took the first and second place at the World Figure Piloting Championships.

*The next rounds of the competition are sky
biathlon with bombing,*

*... and nest
mountaineering.*

Crime news. Yesterday, some hooligans glued the tails of two honest penguins together.

The law-abiding seagull witness immediately reported it to the relevant authorities.

*In culture.
The new book, "One
plus Three",
written by the great Parroty
Redetino,
was released.*

This thriller story is about four friends in the chips stealing business. In this movie, one of the birds causes pity among tourists, and then his friends fly in.

This year, the Greenies Award on the green carpet was given to Wai Zet for his single “Fly Out of Here”.

Fans of the singer celebrated this event all day.

Art Industry News. The annual exhibition of sculptures has ended. First place was taken by the artwork titled “Small ones no worse than the big ones”.

Second place went to a sculpture with an unusual name: “Guess the color of our chick”.

Fashion News. According to designers, bright and pompous shapes and colors are gradually falling from grace among birds.

Practical single-colored style comes into fashion.

And as for bodies: the thinner, the better.

In conclusion - a major scandal took place. At the wedding ceremony, Count Pengvus didn't answer his bride's question: "Will you stay with me in hunger and cold?"

Journalists believe the reason for this to be the dirty dances where the bride was recently spotted.

That's all for now. Up next, the popular talk show "Guess what I'm hiding?"

We'll come back in an hour. Ciao!
